Post takes a day to relax

Org. day offers food, fun, togetherness

By Sgt. Cullen James
Scout Staff

“Good morning! Are you ready to have fun?”

Hundreds of soldiers belonging to the U.S. Army Intelligence Center were welcomed by Brig. Gen. Richard J. Quirk, deputy commanding general, USAIC and Fort Huachuca, to post Organizational Day.

“It’s a great day to be here,” Quirk said. “Your number one mission today is to have a good time.”

Helping out in having fun, twenty events were scheduled from Commander’s Cup to just-for-fun; also food booths, child activities and other attractions were on site.

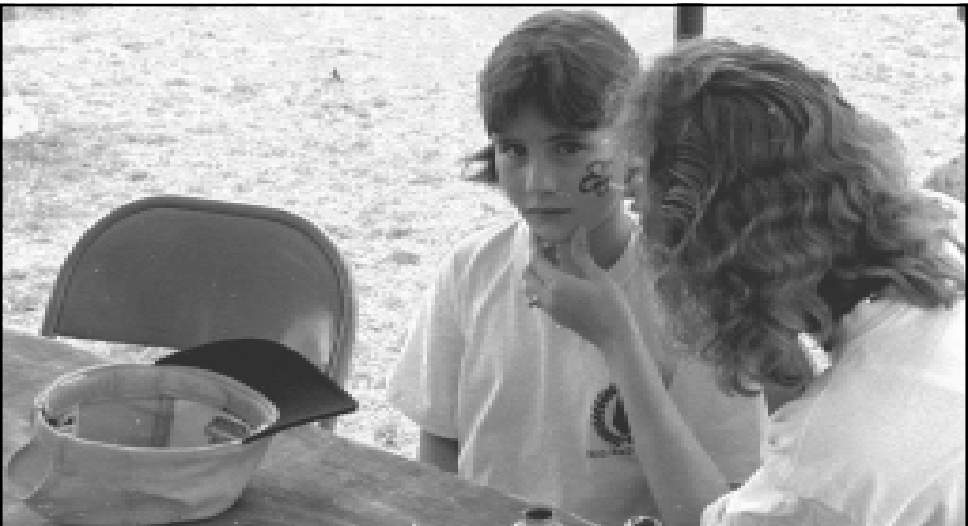

“You don’t have to do anything today but enjoy each other’s company,” Quirk said. “Now remember your primary mission and have fun.”

The Organizational Day sporting events included 10 events which closed this year’s Commander’s Cup competition. This year’s Commander’s Cup champion is Company D, 309th Military Intelligence Battalion with Company A, 304th MI Bn. at second and Company E, 309th MI Bn. at third.

Fishing Report

By Rory Aikens
Arizona Game and Fish Department

Rory's Topwater Tip: Morning topwater action at Lake Pleasant started to pick up before the full moon, and should get going good again during the waning moon. Try off major islands, reefs and points in the main lake.

SOUTHERN WATERS

TUCSON URBAN - The urban lakes were stocked the week of July 12 with channel catfish; that was the last stocking for all urban lakes until mid-September. Due to very low oxygen levels, Lakeside has experienced an almost total fish kill. Anglers are reporting very slow fishing at Silverbell and Kennedy, but are still catching some bass, catfish and sunfish. Buy a two-pole stamp and try different baits to double your chances. Those anglers showing patience are taking home fish.

RIGGS FLAT - Due to high pH, Riggs has not been stocked since mid-May and is not scheduled to be restocked until mid-September depending on water quality. Check with the Forest Service, Safford Ranger District, for camping and fire restrictions at (520) 428-4150.

CLUFF RANCH - Slow for warm water species, although some crappie and bass are being caught. For lake information call (520) 485-9430.

ROPER LAKE - Slow for bass, and catfish. For largemouth bass try fishing jigs along the breaks and outside edges of the cattails. Good for sunfish; use worms in shady areas. For lake information call (520) 428-6760.

DANKWORTH POND - Poor for all species. For lake information call (520) 428-6760.

ARIVACA - The oxygen level is not stable and the lake is experiencing some fish kills. Surveys show fair numbers of small bass, but almost no fish exceeding 12 inches. No other fish stockings are planned until September or October when water quality stabilizes. Due to elevated mercury readings in the warm water species, (bass, sunfish and catfish) it is recommended that these fish not be eaten until further notice. Catch and release should be practiced.

PENA BLANCA - The boat ramp at Pena Blanca Lake has been repaired and is operational. Fishing is fair to good for bass, best fishing at night. Recent surveys show a healthy bass population with good numbers of fish in the 15 to 18-inch range. Use artificial worms in rocky areas where the aquatic vegetation is less dense for largemouth bass. The weeds have been cut, so fishing access has improved. Due to elevated mercury readings in the warm water species (bass, sunfish, crappie and catfish), it is recommended that these fish not be eaten until further notice. Catch-and-release should be practiced. For lake information call (520) 281-2296.

PATAGONIA -Fishing is fair to good for warm water species; bass, sunfish and catfish. Best fishing is early morning, late evening and at night. Recent surveys show excellent populations of bass and sunfish. Try artificial crayfish or worms close to the shore at breaks in the cattails. Try worms in shady areas for large bluegill and redear sunfish. Crappie fishing is fair. Channel catfish are biting on worms, hotdogs or stink bait. For lake information call (520) 287-6063.

PARKER CANYON - Fishing is fair for warm water species (bass, catfish and sunfish). Try artificial worms or night crawlers. Lots of small northern pike in the 12 to 15 inch range are being caught. Try flies, corn, worms, and Power Bait, crankbaits and spinner baits. The limit is six northern pike. Anglers are encouraged to try to catch this illegally introduced species. The water level is rising; boat launching is not a problem. For lake information call (520) 455-5847.

PICACHO RESERVOIR - Has experienced a fish kill.

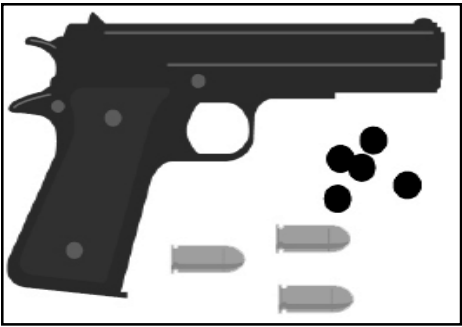

ROSE CANYON LAKE - Was last stocked with rainbow trout late May. Stocking has been suspended due to high water temperatures. Trout fishing has been poor. Is not scheduled to be restocked until mid-September depending on water conditions. For lake and camping information call (520) 749-8700.

Friends of Library host handgun safety program

City of Sierra Vista release

Today at 6:30 p.m. the Friends of the Library will host a one-hour program on gun safety.

The Citizens Addressing Responsible Gun Ownership program is sponsored by the Pima County Attorney's Office and is free to the public. The program is directed to parents and grandparents, whether their children are preschoolers, teenagers or anywhere in between.

This program is divided into three sections. The first section is presented by a firearms instructor who will explain the dangers of guns and discuss the ways in which firearms need to be secured to be safe.

The second portion of the programs will be presented by trauma surgeon Dr. Lamm, who is with the Arizona Family Care Associates in Sierra Vista. Lamm will show attendees what short-term and long-term devastation can occur to a person who is shot. Photographs of gunshot injuries are used in the presentation.

The last portion is directed to parents and children and how they can keep themselves out of situations where an unsecured gun may be present.

The public is asked not to bring their guns, however, gunlocks will be given to attendees. For more information, call the Sierra Vista Public Library at 458-4225.

New to rental shelves:

BOILER ROOM

New Line Cinema (Directed by: Ben Younger; Starring: Giovanni Ribisi, Ben Affleck, Vin Diesel, Tom Everett Scott, Nicky Katt, Don Rifkin, Nia Long, Scott Caan.)

Rated R: Strong language and some drug use.

Family Factor: Subject matter definitely aimed at adults.

Giovanni Ribisi is definitely coming into his own as an actor. In this film he exhibits tremendous depth of character portraying a good intentioned yet mislead young man. His performance alone is worth the rental of this film.

Ribisi stars as Seth Davis, a twenty-something who’s looking for the quick road to success. He’s a college dropout, but earns a decent living running an illegal casino out of his New York City apartment.

His father, a federal judge, finds out and pleads for him to stop. The Davis’ son and father have a strained relationship, which is well characterized by both actors.

After catching flak about the casino, Davis is visited by an old friend and his friend’s boss who wants to get some gambling action. Davis peeks out the door as he lets them in and sees that they were driving a Ferrari — his dream car. He finds out that his friend is training to be a stock-broker and his boss is a senior trader at the company.

During the evening, they talk and convince Davis to come out and join their organization. He and several others are group “interviewed” by Jim Young (Ben Affleck) who doesn’t tout the work as much as he recruits with the tempting, “You will be a millionaire within three years working here.”

All the traders there worship the films “Glengarry Glen Ross” and “Wall Street” and work to emulate the characters and themes in the movies. Which, in effect, make them pretty rotten people.

The talk is fast, the rebuttals even quicker and slices of stock-market under-world are represented.

Enticed by quick cash, they start as glorified telemarketers, move up to junior traders and eventually become senior traders themselves. However, something seems awry at the company. How can they receive such a high commission off their sales? How can they promise such large returns — larger than any investment firm on Wall Street?

Davis begins to ask those questions and the answers he finds put him in a morale dilemma. Both internally and with his father.

Meanwhile, his newly formed relationship with company senior secretary Abbie Halpert (Nia Long) starts strong but becomes strained when FBI agents approach her.

Wonderfully acted, well shot and morally obtuse, this film is superb. It’s less about the stock market and the underhanded dealings that can occur, as it is an introspective look at someone faced with such a dilemma.

Some critics cited the flick as derivative, and it is, but the filmmakers knew this. It was intentional. The film is a hard look at greed-driven generation “X-ers” who are enticed by fast money. I would say that presenting a large group of twenty-somethings who are emulating their favorite movies really isn’t that far off the mark.

I give the movie: four stock certificates.

REINDEER GAMES

Dimension Films (Directed by: John Frankenheimer; Starring: Ben Affleck, Charlize Theron, Gary Sinise, Clarence Williams III, James Frain, Donal Logue, Danny Trejo, Isaac Hayes, Dana Stubblefield.)

Rated R: Strong violence, language and sexuality.

Family Factor: All of the above are far too graphic for younger viewers.

Two guys in prison. One guy has a girl on the outside — writing constantly for the past six months. Other guy has no one. Both are getting released in two days. Guy number one has the girl who’ll be waiting for him when the gates open; guy number two just wants some hot chocolate. Guy number one dies in a prison brawl; guy number two is released the next day.

Gates open, girl is there, what’s a guy number two to do?

That’s the main set up of “Reindeer Games,” an action-suspense film full of Ribisi and Nia Long have a budding relationship, but will it all be ruined?

When Rudy Duncan (Ben Affleck) first gets out the prison walls, he boards the bus and just wants to get home to his hot chocolate, pecan pie, and family. But just coming off a five-year stint in the pen has its downsides in the urges department.

He stops the bus, gets off and poses as Nick (who is earlier played by James Frain) to Nick’s six-month pen pal Ashley (Charlize Theron).

They quickly make it too a local motel (of course) and begin talking and shopping and all the other new girlfriend/boyfriend things. Duncan wants to tell Ashley who he really is, you can see it in his eyes, but just can’t work up the nerve.

Before he has the opportunity to get nervy, and before the movie gets too sappy, Rudy and Ashley enter their hotel room to four baddies — Gabriel (Gary Sinise, always a good baddie), Merlin (Clarence William III), Pug (Donal Logue), and Jumpy (Danny Trejo, who actually makes through an entire film without showing one of his tattoos).

We learn quickly that Gabriel is Ashley’s brother, and is a truck driver and

Showings

Today — ME, MYSELF AND IRENE - Jim Carrey, Rene Zellwegger - When he forgets to take his medications, Charlie, a Rhode Island state trooper with Multiple Personality Disorder finds himself fighting his alter ego. One personality is crazy and aggressive, while the other is more friendly and laid back. Both personalities fall in love with Irene. (Sexual content, crude humor, strong language and some violence). Rated R.

Friday Aug. 18, Sunday Aug. 20 (2 p.m. matinee), Wednesday Aug. 23 — CHICKEN RUN - Animated - At Tweedy’s chicken farm, any chicken who doesn’t make her quota can meet a “fowl” fate. But Ginger and her fellow flock are determined to break out before they can be fried, filleted or fricasseed. Trapped behind barbed wire, fearing for their very lives, Rocky, Ginger, Bunty, Babs and Fowler hatch a desperate plan to fly the coop. Rated G.

Saturday Aug. 19, Sunday Aug. 20 — THE PERFECT STORM - George Clooney, Mark Walhberg - Based on a true story, the film tells of the courageous men and women who risk their lives every working day, pitting their fishing boats and rescue vessels against the capricious forces of nature. Their worst fears are realized at sea one fateful autumn, when they are confronted by three raging weather fronts which collide to produce the greatest, fiercest and most destructive storm in modern history. (Language and scenes of peril.) Rated PG-13.

doesn't know any of this stuff, but he kind of makes it up as he goes along.

There are escape attempts, plot twists and intrigue, and a decent amount of action. Plus it's all pulled off rather well. Gary Sinise is evil. He's a lovely villain.

Need a bud guy? Input Gary Sinise. Ben Affleck is a conundrum though. He's a good enough actor, but I have a problem with him in this action role. He pulls it off, barely, but throughout the film I had reservations.

Fast-paced plot keeps you in the film and it tends to deliver. Some small instances where there are some insubstantial areas mar the film, but overall a good rent.

I give the film: three-and-one-quarter Reindeer.
